MANAGING RECEIVABLES & PAYABLES

Receivable management is the process of monitoring and controlling money customers owe to a business for goods or services purchased on credit. It ensures a company receives timely payment. Payables management includes accurately tracking what's owed to suppliers, ensuring payments are properly approved, and processing payments. Need help with managing receivables & payables? CREATING AND SENDING INVOICES

To make an invoice, you'll need to create a professional document that outlines the services you complete for your clients, provides contact details for both your business and your client's business, and includes the amount owed for your work & the invoice due date. An invoice is important for the client or customer receiving it because it notifies them that a payment is due & what the amount is and it prompts the payment process. Need help with invoicing?
